

Where does the race number go?

You must pin your race number on the front of your race top. Safety pins will be available when you collect your race pack. Please don't swap your race numbers around as your timing chip is registered to your number.

How are times recorded?

Times will be recorded in two ways – Gun Time and Chip Time.

- The Gun Time is the time from the sound of the starter's signal to the time when the runner crosses the finish line. Also known as the Official Time.
- The Chip Time is the time from when the runner crosses the starting mats at the start line, to the time when the runner crosses the finishing mats.

These two times will vary. To find out more about how ChampionChip® works go to www.championchip.com.

When do I collect my chip and race pack?

Where do I attach my chip?

You must attach your chip to your shoe. The easiest way to do this is to fix it to your laces. The chip needs to be near the mat at the start and the finish of the race to record the time.

How are winners determined?

Gun time is the Official Time and all awards are based on Gun Time.

Excerpt from the International Associations of Athletics Federations (IAAF) Road Race Handbook: "For road races and road walking events, the official time will be the time elapsed between the start gun and the athlete reaching the finish line. However, if an athlete crosses the start line after the start gun, his time elapsed between the start and finish line can be made known to the athlete but will not be considered as official time. The order in which athletes reach the finish line will be considered as the official finish position."

Will my times be on the website?

Yes. Chip times will be published on the website within 48 hours of the race.

Will there be medical assistance?
